Entered at the postoffice in Tonopah as second class matter.

S INCE starting the ball rolling on to Washington, the Bonanza German minister used to secure has been recipient of promises of support from many sources, funds to maintain the large lega-Claim owners are enthusiastic over the idea and so are officials of companies. It suits the prospector to a "T," but the strongest cut off from the fatherland, but it supporters of the move to strike the extra-lateral right clause from is now learned that German banks. the mining laws of the United States are the investors, large and business houses and individuals are small, but particularly the small, for the heavy investor sometimes has an ax to grind and it is occasionally to his advantage to have an opportunity to go short in prospect of an apex suit.

The whole matter was summed up so clearly and so humorously by the unknown poet whose verses appeared in last evening's paper, that there is really nothing more to be said at present regarding the injustice of the apex law. The only wonder is that it has been permitted to remain on the statute books so long.

The main matter for consideration is the getting busy with probable candidates for the two houses of congress who are to be chosen this fall. The only way to beat the iniquitous law is to pledge the candidates. Let this be done, PLEDGE THE CAN-DIDATES!

JUST PLAIN HOME FOLK.

NEW spirit has arisen in Tonopah, particularly manifested old metal, broken glass, old cans, since the entrance of the United States into the war. Our Everything will be sorted and sent that city, shows the different manactivities along the lines of patriotic endeavor, whether they be in to centers where it can be made ner in which the entente and the tion's annual tournament to be held the council chamber of a committee of safety, or in the work room to replace something that otherwise central powers wage war. The here March 11-16, inclusive, and at of the Red Cross or N. S. D., it all amounts to the same, all are, levelers. There is little distinction as possible between the uniform of a general and that of a private in the United States army, and so it should be in social matters. After that there is perfect equality. A millionaire's son may be engaged in police duty, mopping a floor for instance, and cheerfully obeying orders from the sergeant whose father drove verted into a low class steel for a truck for his dad. That is how it is going here. The war has become a leveler of women as well as of men, for there must be a sisterhood at home if there is to be a brotherhood in the trenches. While the boys stand shoulder to shoulder, the women here sit side by side as they ply the needle. Out of all the horrors of this war there must come some good, for the law of compensation is like those of Persia and Medea. The great good that we already see here in Tonopah, as witnessed lately on many occasions, is the elimination of social barriers which never should have existed, making our home lives brighter and one ambitions less selfish and more for the alleviation of the ills of others.

As nearly as the Bonanza can analyze the situation, the About ten million pleasure and health brunt of the war is now placed upon the United States. Militarism would have triumphed long ere this if we had not entered the war. The only regret is that it was so long delayed, at least adequate preparation for war.

So well were the plans of the enemy laid that the allies would by the spring of 1917 have been starved and bayoneted into abject defeat had not the money and supplies sent by this country sustained them in a warfare which, despite highly discolored reports in the press, was almost entirely a defensive one.

Imagine what would have happened had this nation remained inert. One of the most significant items would have been the cial diversions for "the many Amerforcing by Germany of Japan into an offensive alliance, the object of which would have been the subjugation of the United States and compelling it to pay the indemnity that would requite Germany for its financial losses. We are even now not out of the woods and we must do and dare. We must suffer and strive, so that the world may be made safe for democracy. Do not neglect any opportunity to serve. Do not only your bit, but your utmost,

GOLD MINING HANDICAPPED.

CONDITIONS at this time are such as to handicap gold mining with the result that no extensive work is now possible in de- restaurants may not charge more velopment propositions, says the Boulder County Miner. The established mines are able to continue operations, but even in the best of these there is retrenchment and an inclination to tide over the period as may best be done, leaving for a more favorable skilled watchmakers out of Tonotime any improvements or extensions.

As a matter of fact while gold is the standard and the gold dollar is never depreciated, yet that dollar will buy less of any Merman, at Roberts grocery. F21tf commodity than in any previous time in recent years. In the industry it will pay but half as much on the day's wage of miners, buy but half the powder, half the eoal for power, half as much of machinery and equipment and far less than half as much of the chemicals, such as cyanide, used in extracting the gold from the ores. The result is that while gold is standard it costs twice as much to produce it. Practically it is suffering the same misfortune that silver had when it was de-standardized.

The West would indeed feel keenly this situation as regards the gold production were it not that silver has advanced to a figure which makes it a profitable product and miners can readily turn now to the silver mines away from the gold mines, as in 1893 they turned from the silver mines to the gold properties. It is felt with complete assurance that no such long period of depression in gold mining can intervene. When the war ends and finances of the world are to be re-established gold will necessarily stand so prominently in the reorganizations as to make it again the king of all metals. But for a year or two gold mining may not be as prosperous as it has been
